Corporation Service Company Introduces CSC Matter Management System

Corporation Service Company® (CSC), the leading global corporate solutions provider, today announced the release of the CSC Matter ManagementSM system. CSC clients use the CSC Matter Management system in their corporate legal department (and beyond), to mitigate risk and reduce cost, on a single integrated platform. "This is an exciting development at CSC," says CEO Bruce Winn, "and demonstrates, yet again, the innovative development and superior service that is the hallmark of CSC in the global marketplace."

CSC clients have used the company's PowerBrief® Web-based system for years as a flexible litigation management and collaboration tool integrated with service of process delivery. Many clients took advantage of the tremendous flexibility of the system and used the PowerBrief system for more than litigation, ultimately driving the innovation that expanded the platform into a full-fledged matter management solution.

"The same flexibility that supports our clients' litigation workflows - the ability to configure fields, values, screens, folder structures - now enables them to manage transactions, contracts, deals, subpoenas, garnishments, real estate matters and more with the CSC Matter Management system," said Jennifer Kenton, Vice President. "Clients love our systems because we develop solutions that work with, and complement, their existing workflows. We don't presume to tell our clients how to run their departments - instead we build flexible systems to support each client's unique practices, complemented by our award-winning customer service."

CSC Matter Management is an agile and powerful system that can be individually tailored for use by one, or multiple, groups in corporate legal departments. CSC Matter Management provides the ability to configure "mini-modules" for each group - comprised of custom screens, fields, values and folder structures. These mini-modules enable each organization to maintain a single integrated platform for global oversight, while providing individual workflows that capture, track and generate reports on the critical data needed to reduce risks and costs.

And with a fully integrated electronic billing module, the CSC Matter Management system provides an effective combination of e-billing and matter management, allowing corporate legal departments to generate critical analytics and metrics with respect to outside counsel's performance and global cost management.

CSC delivers these integrated matter management and e-billing solutions on a single Web-based platform, available for immediate set-up and training - with no need for client IT involvement, expense or resources.
